

ADRIAN COLLEGE

November 5, 2019

To Whom It May Concern,

In my role as Assistant Professor of Teacher Education and Health Education at Adrian College, I have had the opportunity in over four years to observe, teach and mentor Chandler Brown.

Chandler is one of the best students that I have worked with in my nine years at Adrian College. She is energetic, passionate and a bright student. Her interpersonal skills allow her to build meaningful relationships with peers, professors and students. She is dedicated and always follows through with her commitments. Chandler possesses outstanding leadership skills that her peers have often depended on.

In 2018, Chandler planned and organized a professional development trip for twelve Adrian College students to attend the SHAPE America (Society for Health and Physical Education) national convention in Nashville, Tennessee. Due to her leadership and organization, the trip was a huge success. Chandler was the President and Head of Public Relations for the Phi Epsilon Kappa Honors Society. Chandler was also very active in the Alpha Phi Fraternity, the Sigma Tau Delta Honor Society and the National Society of Leadership and Success, all this while remaining on the Dean's Honor List. She was also the SHAPE America Major of the Year Award recipient.

Chandler's associate teaching evaluations were outstanding. Her supervisor raved about her knowledge, skills and classroom management. The school staff was very impressed with her professionalism.

After her graduation, Chandler continued to seek out opportunities to learn and grow. She joined our Study Abroad trip to Scandinavia visiting schools in Finland, Sweden and Norway. Throughout the trip she demonstrated great maturity, enthusiasm and flexibility. Chandler thrived on these new experiences.

Recently, Chandler has demonstrated her organizational and leadership skills as the Project Manager in the GRIP Lab at the University of Michigan. Her responsibilities included supervising undergraduate research, work flows, and ethics compliances. She also managed finances, time reports and examined how to create high-performing teams in the workplace. Chandler is a future mover and shaker and someone who will 'make a difference.'

Quite frankly, if you want a task completed, Chandler is the person to turn to due to her focus and determination. Chandler is an exceptional young educator who will be an asset to not only our profession but any organization or school fortunate enough to hire her.

Please don't hesitate to contact me as I would be more than happy to continue to extol the virtues, skills and passion of this young dynamic professional.

Sincerely

Al Craven
